Meandering

By WASH FAYETTE

Every time I get near the H. O. Noland insurance office on West Court Street, I see from one to a dozen people gathered about the large window in his office.

This is true at nearly all hours of the day and early in the night, and there is a mighty good reason why the people are standing there gazing into the window—it contains dozens of photographs of Fayette County boys who are in the military service all over the globe in the fight for freedom of the world and for civilization.

Recently H. O. called for pictures of all Fayette County soldiers to place in the window and every day more pictures arrive and are placed in the window with the name under the photo.

It is a most interesting display and will continue to attract more and more attention as the number of photos increases.

Saturday while I was standing before the window, I overheard one proud mother say to another woman:

"That's my boy's picture. It looks just like him and I would give anything if I could see him and talk to him and kiss his dear face again just as I did when he was a little tyke."

There was a half sob in her voice, but she went on:

"But I surely am proud of him and that he's able to fight for the right—and he writes to me that he is proud to be in uniform and is ready to give his life if necessary for America to win this war."

Then I understood better why the pictures are drawing so much attention, and why proud mothers and other relatives like to stand at the window and point out the faces of their loved ones and talk about them to others in the crowd.

I notice C. E. Bock, well known farmer of the Milledgeville community, is advertising a farm sale in Milledgeville on November 18, but I'll bet he does not have, in the list of sheep he is including in the sale, the extraordinary kind of lambs he formerly owned.

I refer to five male lambs to which one of his ewes gave birth while he lived on the Lloyd land in Marion Township.

It was on April 5, 1931 that Clifford went out one morning and found the five male lambs, born to one ewe.

So far as known it was the first time on record that one ewe had given birth to five male lambs, and the matter attracted such widespread attention that even Ripley carried it in his famous "Believe It or Not" column.

I understand Clifford will offer some descendants of one of these famous rams in his general sale of livestock and farm chattels.

Walking and acting as energetically as a man 30 years younger and with a genial manner that at once pegged him as a natural salesman and prince of good fellows, 72 year old W. A. Doyle, who for more than 50 years lived in Fayette County, was a visitor in Washington C. H., Wednesday, on one of his periodical trips through this section of Ohio. He greeted many friends while here.

He is the son of the former Gus Doyle, prominent stock dealer in Fayette County for years, and was reared in Jasper Township.

Doyle is known as the man who put Chi-Na-Mel across in this nation, having been its greatest salesman and having visited every state in the Union and some neighboring countries in America, in making that product nationally known. For the past 25 years he has been a resident of Cleveland where some years ago he organized the W. A. Doyle Company which has become highly successful in manufacturing the Blue Top Cleaner and Polisher, a compound which he says has won him 40,000 customers ranging from coast to coast. He takes a great personal pride in knowing his customers personally and is constantly on the move meeting them. Doyle says there is nothing like personal contact in learning about your own product in order to make it a commercially successful commodity.

BLOOD-CHILLING CONVOY BATTLES IN ICY ATLANTIC BEING FOUGHT BY MEN FROM AMERICA'S PRAIRIES

Ships Carrying Supplies to Russia Attacked by Packs of Submarines and Swarms of Torpedo Bombers, Survivors Of Harrowing Ordeals Reveal at Allied Port

By WILLIAM B. KING

WITH U. S. NAVAL FORCES IN A UNITED KINGDOM PORT —(Delayed)—(P)—Americans who are fighting the battle of supplying Russia through the "Bomber Lane" of the Arctic take their ordeals of fire and frigid waters in workaday stride.

U. S. Navy gunners and merchant seamen interviewed in this nerve center of convoy control were all survivors of attacks by U-boats that hunt in packs and torpedo bombers that swarm like bees—but they have but one theme: To fight through to victory, whatever the odds.

More than 1000 naval personnel survivors have been brought here after their ships were shot out from under them.

The most blood-chilling story from the convoy survivors came from Ensign William Roy Kirby of Coffeyville, Kas., in relating his experiences of September 13 when German torpedo bombers made a mass attack.

"We were the leading ship in the convoy's starboard column," he said. "The leading ship in another column blew up with flames shooting up about 300 feet—and then we got it. A torpedo hit in the hatch where we were carrying ammunition."

Two more torpedoes crashed into the vessel, which went down in three minutes. All had to take to the water and swim for it for only one liferaft was launched.

"I dived for that one," Kirby

City Service Paralyzed as Workers Strike for Raise; Water Is Provided

CINCINNATI, Oct. 29.—(P)—Trash and garbage cans lined up along curbs today while union, federal and city officials sought to end a strike of municipal service employees over a wage dispute.

Although City Manager C. O. Sherrill contended that the strikers, members of a union affiliated with the United Mine Workers, abandoned their jobs under civil service regulations, conferences seeking a basis for returning the men to work continued.

Water supplies were normal, as they had been since work-house prisoners took the place of coal-heavers yesterday at the Eastern Avenue Station, a principal pumping center.

For a time Wednesday morning, pressure dropped and reservoir reserves were tapped in futile effort to provide the usual flow.

JAP BASE IN BURMA BLASTED BY YANKS

Bombs Hit Runways and Hangars Set Afire

AT A UNITED STATES ARMY AIR BASE, Somewhere in China, October 29.—(P)—The Jap airfield at Lashio, Burma, terminus of the Burma Road, was bombed early Tuesday by B-25's of the China Air Task Force.

These planes, two-motored Mitchells—the same as used in the Doolittle raid on Tokyo—flew through a screen of anti-aircraft fire to reach their target. Bombs were strewn along the air port and two hangars were hit.

Two or three Japanese fighters took off after the B-25's, but did not engage the Americans, who returned safely.

HELSINKI (From Finnish Broadcasts), Oct. 29.—(P)—Three persons were killed and nine wounded last night by bombs dropped in an air raid on the Finnish capital, the high command announced today.

(The planes were not identified in the broadcast, but other dispatches from Finland said they were Russian.)

Crisis in Pacific Draws Near

By WALTER CLAUSEN

PEARL HARBOR, Oct. 29.—(P)—A showdown in the southwestern Pacific between America and Japanese forces appears to be at hand.

The magnitude of the Japanese push, with a superiority of sky, sea and land forces mobilized for months and stemming from their power house on Truk Island, places the security of the main American positions between the Hawaiian Islands and Australia in peril.

On Guadalcanal Island in the Solomons, American Marines and Army troops are hemmed in on a small strip of land six miles long and three miles deep, with Japanese forces in overwhelming numbers on three sides and the enemy having the advantages of heavy artillery, tanks and supplies.

Whether there will be a re-enactment of the historic stand on Bataan Peninsula in the early stages of the war hinges on getting planes, heavy weapons, supplies and reinforcements quickly to Guadalcanal. The American forces there are confident they can hold out if such supplies and reinforcements reach them.

The Japanese have control of the air in the southern Solomons area and mass landings of troops indicate control of the sea

Compulsory Mobilization Plans Sidetracked Until Details Worked Out

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—(P)—The administration was reported today to have decided to sidetrack proposals for the compulsory mobilization of manpower.

Congressional leaders, who had expected shortly after next Tuesday's elections to receive a pattern from which legislation could be cut to fit the nation's workers into the wartime production machine, were said to have been informed that no White House recommendation would be forthcoming for some time.

In the absence of such a recommendation, sponsors conceded privately it would be next to impossible to obtain action on a half dozen or more manpower bills pending before congressional committees.

However, Senator Hill (D., Ala.), author of a bill that would give President Roosevelt broad authority to say where a man or woman should work, told reporters he would press for speedy action by the Senate Military committee on his and several other measures.

"I think it is inevitable that we are going to have legislation which will mobilize all of our citizens for the war effort and which will direct them into the job they can do best," Hill said.

HIGHWAY TO ALASKA OPENED TO TRAFFIC

Trucks Already Are Rolling With Supplies for Troops

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—(P)—The entire Alaskan Highway is now open to traffic, Secretary of War Stimson announced today, weeks ahead of schedule.

Motor trucks started this week moving supplies and equipment to the garrisons in the north Pacific outpost, using the entire 1,671 miles of the roadway, the secretary told his press conference.

"Thousands of trucks will operate over the route all winter, carrying soldiers and supplies to Alaska," Stimson said. "Plans are under way to bring loads of strategic materials on their return."

OLD AGE PENSIONS HIT PEAK IN OHIO

Increases Made on Basis of Rising Living Cost

COLUMBUS, Oct. 29.—(P)—Ohio's old age pension payments will reach an all-time high in November, Karl R. Babb, chief of the Division of Aid for the Aged, estimated today.

He predicted grants would average approximately $26.94—13 cents more than October when a previous high was established—and that payments would exceed the record total of $3,800,000 138,705 pensioners this month.

Adjustments were made on the basis of need to help recipients meet increased living costs and the average probably will be upped to $27 by the end of the year, he asserted.

Battle Brewing in Capital On Farm Crop Price Control

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—(P)—Angry farm state senators mobilized for an attack today on what they termed "high-handed and illegal" administration of the revised price control law.

They trained their guns on an interpretation of the law inserted in the congressional record by Senator Brown (D-Mich) under which prices of eggs, chickens, butter, cheese, potatoes and flour were frozen, and on a projected program of subsidies which Senator Reed (R-Kas) said the administration had in mind.

460 Convict-volunteers In Ohio Penitentiary Want To Go to War

By ARTHUR BOSTWICK

COLUMBUS, Oct. 29.—(P)—The Ohio Penitentiary military training battalion, an organization of some 460 inmate-volunteers, wants out—to have a go at the Axis.

To a man, battalion members petitioned Gov. John W. Bricker for clemency so that, if qualified under army regulations, they might enter military service.

The plea, said Warden Frank D. Henderson today, was for individual consideration based on the record of each prisoner and not designed to obtain release for service as a "black legion." He expressed the opinion a majority of the men could meet army eligibility standards.

"I feel there are many men in this battalion," Henderson said, "who should be given an opportunity to serve in the armed forces of the United States, where I feel they would serve with credit to themselves and to their country."

German Fliers Chased When They Seek To Avoid Fight

CAIRO, Oct. 29.—(P)—Four more Messerschmitt-109 fighters have been shot down by United States fighters in continuing large-scale operations against the enemy over the Egyptian battle line, a United States communique announced today.

The enemy planes were knocked out in dog fights, the war bulletin said, although the German fliers tried to avoid combat with the United States airmen throughout yesterday, during which repeated attacks were carried out against Axis ground and aerial targets.

Hitler Shifts Assaults on Russia to New Sector And Some Gains Made

By ROGER D. GREENE
(By The Associated Press)

U. S. Army troops and marines, hemmed in a corridor only six miles long by three miles deep, were officially credited today with inflicting bloody losses on the Japanese at Guadalcanal Island, while elsewhere on the world's far-flung battlefronts the Axis showed new strength in Egypt and Russia.

Japanese forces in overwhelming numbers were reported crowding American defenders of the prize Guadalcanal air base on three sides, using heavy artillery and tanks.

Nevertheless, the navy in Washington gave this heartening account of the struggle since the Japanese invaders began their all-out land offensive seven days ago.

"Enemy losses in men and equipment in troop actions on the island since October 23 have been very heavy as compared to our own."

Lately, the navy said, the Japanese assault has tapered down to "small scale thrusts," indicating that the enemy was either waiting for reinforcements or had been stung to discouragement by the fierce American defense fire.

In other theaters, there were the high spots:

EGYPT—Lieut. Gen. B. L. Montgomery's six-day-old offensive to drive the Axis out of North Africa appeared to be hitting stiffer opposition after British shock troops had broken gaps in the enemy's forward defense wall on the El Alamein line, 80 miles west of Alexandria.

British headquarters failed to note any new gains and gave the following terse description of the desert battle:

"During the night of October 27-28 the enemy counter-attacked our positions and was beaten off."

"Yesterday there were some minor tank engagements in which damage was inflicted on the enemy."

"Fighting continues."

TRAIN-BUS CRASH PROBE UNDER WAY

Bus Driver Is Suspended During Inquiry

DETROIT, Oct. 29.—(P)—In company with railroad officials and police, heads of Detroit's war-burdened transportation system pushed an investigation today into the grade crossing crash which killed 16 motorbus passengers, 11 of them women.

Authorities arranged to take official statements from witnesses and survivors of yesterday's tragedy in which a Grand Trunk Western passenger train demolished a crowded bus.

The bus driver, 25-year-old William Cios, was placed under automatic suspension and was instructed to appear at an inquiry. He was one of 27 occupants of the bus injured.

UNIFIED COMMAND GIVEN ENDORSEMENT BY GEN. M'ARTHUR

By JOHN H. WIGGINS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—(P)—Mounting protests against a divided command in the South Pacific appeared headed today for climactic action by what was regarded in some quarters as an appeal from Gen. Douglas MacArthur for unified direction over the entire embattled area.

Answering a newspaper report attributing the two separate commands in the Pacific chiefly to "political Washington" and a "MacArthur-for-president campaign," the 62-year-old leader of United Nations forces in Australia disavowed any "political ambitions whatsoever."

Whim of Plane Pilots Is Blamed For Crash

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 29.—(P)—The whim that led two fliers to arrange a meeting high over a rugged mountain pass is blamed by a congressional investigating committee for the mid-air collision of an army bomber and an airliner near Palm Springs last Friday, resulting in death for all 12 aboard the latter plane.

The aerial rendezvous, said Rep. Jack Nichols, Oklahoma, committee chairman, was disclosed yesterday by 2nd Lieut. W. N. Wilson, 25, pilot of the bomber, who is held for court-martial on manslaughter charges.

Nichols said Lieutenant Wilson testified that he had encountered the liner's co-pilot, L. F. Reppert, at a party the night before the crash, and that Wilson had arranged to time his take-off from Long Beach, Calif., so that he would meet the eastbound commercial transport in the vicinity of San Geronimo Pass.

The meeting took place, the planes collided and the transport, an American airliner, crashed in flames.

The bomber's co-pilot, Staff Sgt. Robert Leicht, also is under arrest, but the army said nothing of any charges against him.

Pilot of the airliner was Capt. Charles F. Pedley, a pilot for 20 years.

THE WAR TODAY

Result of Battle of Egypt Likely To Be Determined By Clash of Big Tanks

LONDON, Oct. 29.—The fiercely contested British offensive in the Egyptian desert has reached the point where one would expect it to develop into a battle of tanks. For the outcome of the conflict is likely to turn on these steel monsters.

Lieut. Gen. B. L. Montgomery's tactics against the Axis indicate that this is exactly the position which he is trying to bring about. The wedges which he has driven into Field Marshal Rommel's strongly fortified line are calculated to maneuver the German into flinging his Panzer forces into the melee to prevent a complete break-through.

The development would bring Axis tanks up against destructive British artillery and anti-tank gun fire.

Actually this is what happened Tuesday, but Rommel withdrew his armored units after they had suffered considerable losses.

Thus far the British Eighth army has been up against the necessity of cracking Rommel's line with frontal assault by infantry, airplane and artillery.

Such frontal attack is one of the most difficult operations in war. It also is likely to be one of the bloodiest.

In trying to gauge the progress of such an offensive it must be borne in mind that the drive is laid out in stages and worked on a railway schedule.

For one section to race ahead while a neighboring section remained behind would break the line and lay it open to flank attacks by the enemy.

General Montgomery's ultimate aim is to maneuver the enemy into such a position that he can make a flank attack. Both of Rommel's flanks are protected—the northern by the Mediterranean and the southern by the Great Qattara Depression.

If and when we reach the point where British Armored units are able to execute a flank movement, we shall get what is likely to be one of the biggest tank battles of the war. Rommel's greatest strength apparently lies in his Panzer divisions.

So far as air power, he is much inferior and he also probably has fewer troops by several divisions.

Under the circumstances it seems certain that Hitler will try to send air reinforcements to his desert army. Undoubtedly supplies and troops also are being moved across the Mediterranean both by air transport and by boat.

The British commander may be expected to try to force a quick decision. Montgomery's game is to get Rommel quickly.

4,000 BUSHELS MOVED TO GOVERNMENT BINS

Wednesday was a busy day at the Gwinn Elevators and government wheat bins on the old fair grounds.

During the day 4,000 bushels of soybeans were tested, weighed and transferred to the bins. The same equipment used for placing the wheat in bins last spring was utilized for handling the beans.

EFFICIENT POSTAL SERVICE STRESSED

Public Urged to Exercise Care in Addressing

W. R. Briggs, inspector in charge of the district in which the Washington C. H. Post Office is located, has issued a statement to the public in which he urges care in the packing and addressing of mail matter so that more efficient service may be provided.

The statement follows: "Careful and prompt handling of mail matter constitutes good mail service. Congestions of mail cause loss, damage and delay. Christmas time is approaching with its enormous, and, this year, unusual mailings. To prevent congestion will be a task which will tax the Postal Service to the utmost. Success can be attained only with the complete cooperation of the American public."

The boys in the Armed Services are our first consideration, and we will do well to bear in mind that their morale is vitally affected by the mail they receive.

Letters and parcels improperly addressed or improperly prepared also cause losses and delays and contribute materially to congestions. The public can be of great assistance in keeping congestions to the minimum by—mailing early—packing properly—and carefully and completely addressing the mail, exercising the caution to place on all mail matter the name and address of the sender.

BLOOD-CHILLING BATTLES OF CONVOYS DESCRIBED BY SURVIVORS IN PORT

said, "but when I came up it wasn't there. I remember thinking I might become too numb to tie a knot so I wrapped a line they threw me around my waist about eight times. I felt a pressure on the rope and then I don't remember more."

By that time he had been in the water, estimated to have been about 28 degrees, for 40 minutes. "Later they told me that someone on the rescue ship climbed down and grabbed me around the shoulders and pulled me aboard," he said. "I sure thought I was a goner."

Members of Kirby's crew who shared the cold plunge included Lloyd R. Weeks of Columbus, Ohio and Robert William Eallman of Cincinnati, Ohio.

Signalman John Joseph Boyle of Plymouth, Mass., was in a crew which manned guns on another ship which got through to Archangel in an early convoy but was sunk by three torpedoes on the return trip southwest of Spitsbergen.

The heaviest attack fought off by Boyle's gun crew on the Russia trip was heralded by a piercing shout from Gunner Clarence Henry Delong of St. Louis, Mich., who fairly shook the ship with his: "Here they come."

They were attacked by 10 or 11 torpedo bombers.

"It was a wild day for awhile," said Boyle, "but we got the squadron leader when he flew within about 150 feet of us."

Among those serving with Boyle and Delong were Andrew Francis Covella of Gloucester, Ohio; Ralph Eugene Cox of Chillicothe, Ohio; and Thomas Benton Dennison of Akron, Ohio.

When a ship was torpedoed from under Lieut. (JG) John E. Kelly of Chicago, September 13 it was the second time he had been forced to leave a sinking vessel in this war.

Charles Ratz of Cleveland emerged as the hero of Kelly's crew. He dived over a side of the ship into the freezing water without a lifebelt to help two men who were trapped under a capsized lifeboat.

After their rescue by a British destroyer all of Kelly's crew asked and obtained permission to stand action stations with the British crew.

In addition to Ratz they included Thomas E. Davis of Columbus, Ohio and Charles R. Allen of Youngstown, Ohio.

Three Ohioans were among other naval gunners resting in the Red Cross center of this British port, waiting for the time when their government will take them home—for a well-earned leave.

A U. S. merchant ship gun crew which included an Ohioan bagged a Nazi torpedo plane which sank their vessel as 40 planes attacked a convoy bound for Soviet Russia, a naval ensign reported.

In his story written exclusively for The Associated Press, Ensign Kenneth W. Tipping, 23, of Maywood, N. J., told how the crew brought down the raider, Kenneth Moore of Portsmouth, was a member of the crew.

"Our convoy was well under way and although Nazi reconnaissance planes had been circling overhead for two days, we didn't realize what was in store for us until two of our ships were torpedoed on a chill Sunday morning," Tipping wrote.

"The plane that got us came in on the starboard beam and let go two torpedoes. I can look back on that moment with some consolation, though, because I am convinced we knocked down that plane. As he banked away from attack, he was caught flush in the belly by a stream of tracers from the starboard 50-calibre gun and from the 30-calibre gun on the boat deck. He never came out of that bank."

in the Guadalcanal zone. In addition, a force of enemy carriers, battleships, heavy cruisers, destroyers and submarines is moving eastward to menace other American positions in the southwest Pacific. That force may be of sufficient superiority to give the Japanese widespread control of the sea. Attacks, from the sea and air, already have been made on American bases in the New Hebrides.

This is the first time since conquest of the Philippines that the Nipponese have put in motion such superiority in power against American positions in the Pacific. There is no doubt that it is an all-out effort to destroy these American footholds in the south Pacific.

New Pastor Appointed For Church of Christ And Officers Selected

Officers for the coming year of 1942-1943 were elected by members of the Church of Christ on Wednesday evening at the annual congregational meeting. James Minshall presided over the session. Reports from every department, both church and Sunday School and all classes called upon gave a record of the past year's work. These accounts were described as interesting and as evidence that the past year has been "most progressive" in the church.

Although the congregation expressed regret over the loss of its minister Rev. Fred I. Gardner, who is now serving the Church of Christ in North Middletown, Ky., spokesmen said it "is happy to announce" that Rev. Byron Carver of London, who has preached at both morning and evening services at the church the past two Sundays, has been voted on to be its new pastor. Rev. Carver has studied extensively and has great ability in the work he has chosen.

Local Man Booked on Airliner that Crashed

Norman Armbrust, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Armbrust of the Lewis road, was booked to travel on the ill-fated American airliner which collided with a U. S. Army plane near Palm Springs, California, last Friday evening, and carried 12 persons to their death when it crashed.

Armbrust, who is a student in advance flying school at Luke Field, Phoenix, Ariz., was waiting at Phoenix to board the plane when it reached that city, and fly to Memphis, Tenn.

It was while he was waiting at the airport in Phoenix that word was received the plane had crashed in California.

AMERICAN VICTORY MUST BE WON IN AMERICAN HOMES

War must be fought and won by nations as a whole. Behind the fighting forces, there must stand, strong and determined, a united home front.

The woman who learns to sew for herself and her family, who studies food problems, who thrifly manages the family income so there will be a surplus to invest in War Bonds, that housewife is fighting the war like any soldier.

She stands guard over the family pay envelope, buying only needfuls, of sound, durable quality.

She turns instinctively to stores she can trust... stores that give her full value, stores like Penney's which have always served her well.

FARM BUREAU'S ANNUAL SESSION ON NOVEMBER 5

State Meeting Will Be Held at Neil House November 18-20

Plans are being made for the annual meeting of the Fayette County Farm Bureau to be held in Memorial Hall, Thursday evening, November 5, and Arthur Hoverland and Robert Peelle, will be the speakers.

Reports will be received, business transacted, including the election of officers and a social session will follow.

The 24th annual meeting of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation has also been announced, and will be held at the Neil House, Columbus, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, November 18, 19 and 20.

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Luigi G. Luigtti, of Des Moines, and Miss Mary Mims, of Baton Rouge, Louisiana, will be the speakers at the meeting.

Msgr. Luigtti, who is executive secretary of the National Catholic Rural Life Conference, will be the main speaker for a banquet session which is to be held in the Neil House ballroom on Thursday evening.

Miss Mims is extension sociologist on the staff of Louisiana State University, at Baton Rouge. She will speak to the general session of the convention on Thursday afternoon.

The Farm Bureau convention this year is to be a combination of annual meeting and working conference. The work sessions will begin on Wednesday evening with four sectional meetings for Education and Organization, Youth, Legislation, and Co-op Business and Insurance. These group conferences will be continued with sectional breakfasts on Thursday morning.

Twenty-two Trustee Breakfast sessions will be held on Friday morning with everyone attending the breakfast for his trustee district.

The women's program for the convention will open with a friendship supper to be held Wednesday evening at the Neil House.

MASS DEPORTATIONS OF JEWS CONTINUES

Hundreds Being Sent Out of Belgium by Nazis

LONDON, Oct. 29.—(AP)—The Free Belgian news agency today reported that mass deportations of Jews from Belgium were continuing.

Six hundred Jews, including women, have been sent from Liege to an unknown destination and 181 others have been sent to Malines to join a contingent leaving for upper Silesia and the Ukraine, the agency said.

In one quarter of Antwerp, 5,250 Jews have been arrested and deported, and in another section 250 others were sent to the channel coast. Their children were sent elsewhere.

SHIPS IN FRENCH PORTS DEMANDED BY GERMANS

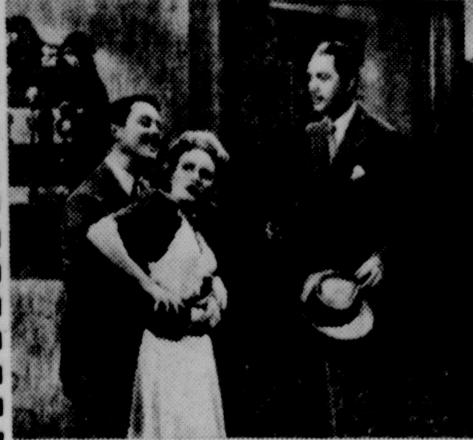

LONDON, Oct. 29.—(AP)—The BBC said in a broadcast to the continent last night that the Germans in Paris had called upon Pierre Laval, Vichy chief of government, for the surrender of a large tonnage of both French and foreign shipping in French ports.

Rosalind Russell, Janet Blair, in 'My Sister, Eileen,' Coming Sunday at the State Theatre

IT ALL STARTS WHEN Ruth Sherwood writes a glowing advance rave for her paper in Columbus, Ohio, on the performance of her sister Eileen, in an amateur play. Ruth is unceremoniously fired and Eileen is replaced. Both girls decide to go to New York to make good.

In New York they lease a Greenwich Village basement apartment from crafty Mr. Appolous, would-be artist. The apartment, the girls find, has a past and very much of a present. Strangers stroll through at all hours, doors have no locks, a new subway is being blasted below and neighbors drop in to sleep over.

Ruth and Eileen meet, among others, Bob Baker, handsome editor of the Manhattan magazine, who is interested in Ruth's stories, and Chic Clark, fresh theatrical reporter. Chic sends Ruth on a phony assignment to cover the arrival of Portuguese cadets so he can be alone with Eileen, but Bob interrupts and takes her to dinner.

Ruth is followed home by six exuberant Portuguese cadets. They take one look at the captivating Eileen and go into a Congo dance around the basement flat. Later, Bob brings a copy of the Manhattan containing Ruth's story and a check. The girls decide to renew their lease just as the subway drilling crew crashes through.

WASHINGTON'S "BLIND SPOT"

In the view of many writers, one of the obstacles to the swift and efficient prosecution of the war is what might be termed the "Washington mentality." It is an insidious form of disease which seems to strike a great many government workers, both the important and the obscure. The symptoms are an ever-expanding bureaucracy which is bound lock, stock and barrel in miles of red tape.

In a recent column, one prominent writer touched on this trouble. "In Washington," it was written, "the facts of life are the government itself. Therefore all the struggles of life occur inside the government. . . . In a normal city there is a constant interplay of interests, and one meets, day by day, industrialists, artists, officials, teachers, physicians, and all sorts and conditions of men, so that there is a constant correction and adaptation of one viewpoint to another viewpoint. In Washington, since there is no normal intercourse, the world enters in the form of lobbyists—ambassadors from groups in the nation to the capital. . . . And eventually the domestic life of the nation becomes as complicated as foreign policy."

In Washington, in short, thousands of people are continually striving for political or economic power of some sort. The big men in the government—the President, his cabinet, the heads of major departments—are surrounded by "yes" men who are seeking to curry favor in high places. As a result, many of the big men become super-sensitive to criticism.

They lose touch with the country. Often they are tremendously overworked, and their energies are devoted to routine matters which could and should be done by underlings. There is a tremendous waste of time and effort in making decisions on matters of major policy.

The lack of cohesion in the seat of our government has been shown many times. It has become a commonplace for top officials to make opposed declarations on the same subject. The rubber problem is the prime example of that—practically everyone in Washington has had his say about it, and the result has been a vast and needless confusion in the public mind. Selective Service policy is still another example. Every few days a new dictum is handed down—and very often it is greatly at variance with the one which preceded it. General Hershey says one thing, the state draft directors say another, some spokesman for the Manpower Commission or the War Labor Board says still another—and then the local draft boards, which in some places are laws unto themselves, do the best they can, considering all the confusion.

According to capital veterans, some of the ablest men in the country have

One-Minute Test

1. Speaking of flags, what is meant by an ensign, a standard, a color?
2. How the Hudson River empty into Hudson Bay?
3. What is the only mammal that can fly under its own power?

Words of Wisdom

In all departments of activity, to have one thing to do, and then to do it, is the secret of success.

Today's Horoscope

Courage, determination, a firm will and a capacity for careful and precise work are the strong points of the persons who have birthdays today. They are methodical and accurate, and have executive ability. They also enjoy the outdoors. Their fortunes will be most propitious in the next year. Success in business and love, or, if married, happiness and increase of family, good will of superiors and promotion are foreseen for them this coming year. They should, however, beware of imposition. Born on this date a child will enjoy much good fortune and popularity, fame being achieved early. The disposition will be generous and magnanimous, but liable to some exploitation.

One-Minute Test Answers

1. An ensign is a flag flown on ships; a standard is a flag carried by mounted or motorized units; a color is a flag carried by unmounted units.
2. No, Hudson Bay is in Canada. The Hudson River empties into upper New York Bay.
3. The bat.

gone to Washington—and unconsciously become victims of the "Washington mentality." As the old proverb has it, they can't see the forest because of the trees. They too are enmeshed in red tape, and they too tend to regard criticism as a sort of treason. And in the meantime, the bureaucracy grows bigger and better entrenched, and the wheels move slower and slower.

The writer mentioned believes that the answer, in part, is to "decentralize our bureaucracy—decentralize it to the point where once a clear policy has been laid down, decisions can be made all over the country and far away from Washington." Still another essential is to free responsible officials of routine paper work so that they can lay down clear policies. And a third essential is to stick to policies once they are made—and to keep third-string officials from bedeviling the public with confused and contradictory statements.

Any major change in Washington must be made by the President himself. The most important bureaus are under the control of the Executive branch, rather than Congress. He makes all the important appointments of personnel, and he has the power to clean house whenever he wants to and as thoroughly as he wants to. All agree that among the many men he has brought to Washington, there are some top rate ones. But it is felt that in many cases these men have not been given sufficient authority to adequately perform their jobs. And in many other cases these men have unconsciously tended to become complacent, and they need shaking up.

Washington at a Glance

By Charles P. Stewart

WASHINGTON — In the midst of rapidly-changing conditions, new problems naturally arise constantly in Washington, as the seat of our whole emergency activity. Every time a fresh one presents itself, an additional commission, board, administration, office or other executive agency is created to specialize on that particular puzzle.

The capital's so full of 'em that they're difficult, even for experts, to keep track of.

As a plan case of confusion, it would be bad enough. It's worse than that, though. These set-ups overlap numerously. They disagree and conflict with each other. There are jealousies over rival claims to authority and jealousies over questions of taxation allowances to support their various pet projects.

Congress is considerably resentful also. Capitol Hill's complaint is that it's been legislatively almost completely nullified by the wartime brood of executive groups. It's a danger to American democracy's future, according to the critical lawmakers, and what's more, they charge, it's bad for our present war effort, in that it's resulting in a muddle inconsistent with our maximum efficiency. Finally, dishing out money to a multiplicity of different agencies, which ought to be merged, is represented as calculated to be unnecessarily expensive, in a campaign that'll be nearly ruinous, anyway.

Tolan's Plan

Representative John H. Tolán is chairman of a committee that's been investigating the matter for some time and today calls for a halt upon the establishment of still more commissions until a "master organization" has been established to co-ordinate the recommendations of the subdivisions.

Representative Everett M. Dirksen has, indeed, actually pending in the lower congressional chamber, a resolution for a "legislative research service," as a liaison body between a lawmakers' joint committee of senators and representatives and the large family of executive set-ups.

Specifically Representative Dirksen's plan is more of a job at the government's executive branch than Representative Tolán's suggestion.

The Tolán scheme is for a master organization, to be sure, but that, so far as the proposal's concerned, can be as much executive as legislative, as the lesser ones, only it'll assemble all their separate conclusions under a single classification.

Representative Dirksen wants a purely legislative committee of 22 members, chosen in partnership by Capitol Hill's two houses. Besides their lawmakers' duties, Dirksen agrees that this outfit won't find much time to weigh, personally, all the advice given to em from executive quarters, but their "legislative research service" will consist of experts of their own selection—employed to filter executive requirements through from their agencies' sources to the intermediate "service's" congressional bosses.

In short, says the resolution's author, "To fulfill its duties to the people, congress should be, at all times, a co-ordinated equal of the executive branch and this," he adds, "has been far from the case in recent years."

Further Complications

As might be expected, administration spokesmen aren't enthusiastic over the notion of limiting its powers. They do, in fact, admit a deal of congestion of emergency agency personnel in Washington, but their version is that the administration itself is straightening matters out as fast as possible, whereas, they believe it would become perfectly hopeless with congress further complicating it.

Representative Dirksen, by the way, doesn't intend his proposed committee to be exclusively a war-time institution. It's to be, as he describes it, "a joint committee on planning and reconstruction."

Therefore it's to slop over into the post-war era, for there won't be any reconstruction while the war lasts—nothing but DE-struction.

Saccharin Harmless and It Has Many Uses

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

A FEW weeks ago I stated that the use of saccharin as a substitute for sugar was harmless, even if taken over a long period of time. Since then my mail has been full of inquiries and comments. A typical one comes from "Interested Reader," who encloses a clipping from Emily Post's column as follows:

"Dear Mrs. Post: As a physician I was much shocked to read your advice that one should learn to like saccharin as a substitute for sugar. Taken in quantity without the supervision of a physician, it can have a very harmful effect.

"Answer: I had not intended to suggest that people take it in quantity, but merely when going to drink tea or coffee in the houses of others, to avoid depleting their supply."

The shocked physician had better look the matter up and get some accurate information so he will get unshocked. At any rate, he had better quit writing to the newspapers while he is in a condition of complete ignorance. Mrs. Post was right the first time.

The English Study

Several years ago I looked it up and found that an English commission of doctors had studied the question at length and came to the conclusion that there was no evidence that saccharin ever did harm, even when taken daily and even in quite large quantities. They interviewed hundreds of saccharin users in all climates. Experiments on new-born laboratory mice, giving them a twentieth of their body weight in saccharin for twenty consecutive days, did not interfere with their health, growth or long life.

As recently as August 22, 1942, Dr. Walter Bastedo, one of the most respected physicians in New York, wrote to a medical journal: "Many physicians are not fully aware of the non-toxic nature of saccharin and are fearful about permitting its indiscriminate use."

On Saccharin Committee

"In 1916 I was chairman of a saccharin committee (New York Board of Health) composed of noted chemists such as H. C. Sherman and W. J. Gies. We made an extensive study and came to the conclusion that saccharin is non-toxic, either acute or chronic, for human beings, in any amounts that could ordinarily be consumed. We found an extensive use of saccharin in canned goods, chewing gum, soda water flavors, ginger ale and so on."

The present interest in saccharin arises from its use as a substitute for sugar. In this connection one of my correspondents writes: "You mention saccharin as a sweetener, but fail to warn that it loses its sweetening power when heated. All right in cold foods, but disappointing in coffee."

This is correct. Saccharin is of no use in cooking. The heat of an ordinary cup of coffee, however, in my experience does not affect it.

CHAPTER TWENTY-FOUR

FRAN HOPED maliciously that Toinette had forgotten the appointment, that she would be confused and condescending, which she would report gleefully to Mary.

But Toinette did none of these things. She pulled Fran impulsively into the group of actors surrounding her.

"I want you all to know Mees Frances Bond—who saved my life yesterday."

Against her will, Fran felt a glow of surprised pleasure that the star had remembered her name. But this soon died as the conversation about her went on. Today, Fran had no wish to chat with Toinette Vaughn or anyone else. She regretted already that she had come. She only wanted to get away from Burke for a while till she could get used to the shock of what he had told her at the luncheon table.

"If he were drafted—if he HAD to go—it would be all right," she was thinking mutinously as the group strolled across the movie lot toward Toinette's bungalow. "But when he has a chance to stay at home, and still wants to go—I'd like to break his stubborn neck!"

"Don't you like my cottage?" Fran came back to herself with a jerk. She and Toinette were standing before the bungalow, the others having gone on. "You looked at it and scowled!" laughed the star.

"I was thinking," Fran grinned wilyly. "And it's not becoming to me."

She admired the quaint little bungalow set in the privacy of a circle of young eucalyptus trees. Then they went inside. Fran caught her breath with an unfamiliar feeling of awe. It might have been a palace courtroom, so exquisitely was every detail of its decoration scaled to its size that it seemed as spacious as all perfection, a harbor of luxury, secure and distant from an imperfect world.

Toinette sank on one low divan and waved Fran to another. Her maid hurried in with a silver service, and Toinette poured the coffee.

Fran sneaked another look around—at the white fur rug on the shining floor, at the silk tapestries, whose age-old colors reflected the brighter shades of low bowls of flowers on delicately carved table-tops and tables. Her gaze fixed on a richly lustrous screen, angled behind her divan.

"You like my screen?" Toinette handed her coffee. "It was sent me by an admirer. A Persian prince. Once it was in his palace." She pulled a silken cord beside her and the maid appeared. "Please bring me my small portfolio."

Fran saw the picture of the prince—and of many other "admirers," as well as celebrities from every walk of life. All of them were inscribed, some with feeling, some with taste and reticence, but all with admiration.

Fran's attitude toward Toinette was undergoing a change in spite of herself. She had always thought of her as beautiful and dumb and let it go at that. She began to watch her now. Perhaps there was something in the "spark of genius" idea. This frail, exquisite creature with her haunting, warm voice, her dark, velvet eyes was simple, friendly, yet there was a certain fascination about her. It was impossible to take one's eyes or mind off of her, and impossible not to let one's mood flow eventfully into her mood.

Before she was aware of it, Fran was asking questions, drinking in the story of Toinette's rise to fame, her travels, her life. With the background of this room, and told in the star's low, husky voice, it made it seem like a fabulous fairy tale.

Fran sighed when it was finished. "But I love to talk of my self," Toinette laughed. "Because I love my life. You must stop me. Now what of you?"

"Me?" Fran came back to herself with difficulty, then the contrast between her own disappointment and this story of fulfillment hit her. "I thought I was going to be an actress, too, this morning. But I guess that's out."

"What do you mean?"

"The boy friend," Fran burst out in sudden bitterness. "He's going to join the Army."

Toinette raised her black brows in a quizzical air. "What has thee to do with you?"

Fran blinked as the star leaned forward to fix her with suddenly gleaming eyes.

"Well—I couldn't go on without him."

Toinette put down her coffee cup and sat regarding the uncomfortable Fran from between heavy lids, an inscrutable smile touching her lips. "How long have you wished to be an actress?"

"Oh—I don't know," Fran felt suddenly childish, and added hastily, "All my life, I guess."

"All right! The low, husky voice was abruptly harsh. "Eef you know what you want, then you must do it. You must think of no-thing else before it—of nobody else before it!"

"You mean—break up with Burke?" Fran's helpless gaze was locked by the cold fire in the actress' eyes.

Abruptly Toinette shrugged. "I am not telling you what you shall do or what you shall not do," she laughed with delicate impatience. "My life is mine. Your life is yours. She rose from the divan and crossed to disappear between hanging drapes. "Wait, please, for one moment. We will walk back to the set together."

At 9 o'clock that night, Mary hurried out to the street instead of going to the luncheon room as usual. Fran had called her, and was now waiting at the curb in Burke's car. She drove to the nearest drive-in quickly, and after they had ordered their sandwiches and coffee, she said guiltily.

"This won't make you late, will it? I had to talk to you."

Mary was frightened. She had never seen the carefree, flippant Fran in such a frantic mood. "What happened?"

Her room-mate's frightened concern steadied Fran. She controlled her own feelings to smile reassuringly at Mary. "Don't get scared, Mary. Nothing's happened yet, really. I guess I just got a glimpse through too many doors today—and then watched 'em slam in my face. I'm slap happy." She told Mary the exciting break she and Burke had gotten in the picture, then of Burke's stubborn lack of ambition, finally of her half-hour with Toinette and Toinette's advice to cleave to her career and forget Burke.

Mary murmured in surprised wonder. "But Fran, I didn't know you wanted to be an actress that badly."

Her room-mate's surprised and bit thoughtfully into it. She watched the cars pulling into the circular curbing beside them and the car-hops hurrying back and forth with their trays. Slowly the tense brooding went out of her eyes. She took a deep breath, and grinned back at Mary. "I don't," she cried. "I guess the whole thing was just cheerful grousing on my part until I went into that cottage, of Toinette Vaughn's. But, boy, did she have me burning with a clear blue flame! Did I say that woman was dumb? She's terrific."

Mary waved at a grateful and happy Fran as the latter left her at the plant a few minutes later. But as the car drew away, Mary's eyes dimmed suddenly with helpless tears. She had wanted Fran to investigate the glamorous actress. Well—she'd gotten the report!

Here's War Correspondent's Last Story

NEW YORK—(AP)—War Correspondent Byron Darnton of the New York Times, who was killed accidentally "in an advanced operational area in New Guinea," paid tribute to the fighting forces and "what they are fighting for" in his last dispatch.

Darnton's by-lined story in the Times carried the dateline "SOMEWHERE IN NEW GUINEA (Delayed), Oct. 7." He wrote as a soldier who served in France during the last war, comparing "news coverage" then, and in the present war:

"Transport can be roughly defined as a ride (for correspondents). Men who wrote the news of the last war have told me that GHQ placed a limousine at the disposal of each correspondent. That is no longer being done. Here in the Port Moresby area, for instance, we have two pick-up trucks for about 20 Australian and American correspondents and photographers.

"You get your best rides from bomber pilots whom you know. They and their crews seem to like to have you along. You provide a new element in what have come to be boring, uneventful trips to the most forward base, and you take part in many enjoyable conversations shouted over the roar of the engines.

"And the correspondent of this war, unlike his predecessor of 25 years ago, can find manifold evidence that the victory will be well used.

"Young men who are doing our fighting are, to a surprising extent, thinking about the war, not only in terms of getting back home to their wives and sweethearts and getting away from danger and discomfort. They are thinking also in terms of what kind of world we shall have after peace comes.

"They are thinking realistically. Above all, they want the United States to be kept strong on land and sea.

"The politician who preaches 'normalcy' at the end of this war will find some hard-headed opposition. He will find these men assured and matured above their years. He will find that they have fully learned the lesson that two wars in 25 years have taught.

"He will find that they want, not national escape to irresponsibility, but peacetime compulsory military service for youths now growing up.

"They want no politician-ridden National Guards system, but a reserve force that in an emergency could provide a full strength of trained units immediately instead of small groups of untrained men organized on paper into companies, battalions and regiments."

Presbyterian All-Day Mission Study Class

The Mission Study Class of the Presbyterian Church held an all day meeting at the church beginning at 10:30 o'clock Wednesday morning. Mrs. Omar Schwartz was study class leader and opened with the singing of the hymn, "The Sun Is On the Land and Sea."

Mrs. Schwartz read a lovely poem, ending with prayer. Mrs. A. F. Hopkins had the devotional period.

The book to be studied, "On This Foundation—the Evangelical Witness in Latin America." The author of this very interesting and instructive book is W. Stanley Rycroft. He was born in Lancashire, England. During the first World War, he served with the Royal Air Force and was brought down in action three times. After graduating from Liverpool University he went to Peru to teach, later also taught in several other South American cities. Dr. Rycroft has lectured in the United States on Latin America subjects and is the author of numerous articles, both in English and Spanish.

In this book an endeavor has been made to show the supreme importance of spiritual values and relationships in the development and unification of the Americas and to interpret the significant role of evangelical movement.

The first three chapters were given in a most interesting manner by Mrs. Henry Melvin. She said in part—"South America is truly a land of contrasts in climate, people and terrain and all of South America lies east of Detroit."

Mrs. Schwartz closed the morning session with a short talk on missionaries and said that "We can each one be a missionary."

At 12:30 a delicious covered dish luncheon was served in the dining room under the supervision of the entertainment committee. The tables were decorated with red, white and blue candles in crystal holders. Mrs. A. F. Hopkins gave the blessing.

At 1:30 the meeting was again called to order with the opening number, "The Kingdom of God on Earth," after which Mrs. Schwartz gave a short talk and offered prayer.

The next three chapters of the book were given by Mrs. Herbert Clickner. The substance of her talk, "Education and the Bible Go Together."

The last two chapters were given by Mrs. John L. James. Quoting from her talk, "The Pan American Highway will bring the South to the North as well as the North to the South. Can the church meet the opportunity of leading the world to peace? The last number, two beautiful and well rendered piano numbers by Miss Kathryn Biehn.

The meeting was closed with all giving the benediction.

The dinner courses were served at one long table and one small, cleverly and prettily decorated in Hallowe'en suggestions. The courses also were suggestive of Hallowe'en and most delicious.

Games were played during the gay social hour which followed, with informal visiting with the guest of honor enjoyed.

Pretty Party Given Dinner Bridge Club

Misses Jayne and Peggy Devins and Miss Lorane Kruse entertained their dinner-bridge club for a delightful session Wednesday evening, the guests assembling at the Devins party home at seven o'clock for dinner.

Autumn colors of russet and yellow were used in the lovely decorations of the dining table, with a large crystal rose bowl filled with numerous russet, yellow and white mums the centerpiece.

A small table for four was similarly appointed, centered with a small rose bowl, and in the dining room. The entire room was candlelight, adding an effective note. Each cover was marked with small flower pots of fall colors, holding bouquets of the brilliant colored mums. The courses were most delicious and of favorite viands.

The enjoyable pleasures of the dinner hour was continued throughout the evening, with bridge enthusiastically played. The prizes were won by Mrs. L. F. Everhart, Mrs. M. Grove Davis and Mrs. Bliss Robison.

Effective Party Staged at Home Of Van Voorhis

Mrs. Paul Van Voorhis opened her home Wednesday evening to the Odaho Campfire group for a gay Hallowe'en party.

The girls had made clever plans for the thoroughly delightful affair and all appeared in costume and masks, creating much hilarity.

The festivities took place in the basement, which was an ideal setting for the spooky decorations of lighted pumpkin faces, skeletons, and black and orange crepe paper streamers, providing a perfect atmosphere for the party. A delicious supper, especially appealing to young appetites was served, and the evening was enjoyably spent in games and contests. There were four typical Hallowe'en contests such as bobbing for apples and the like and the winners of these were, Marilyn Harper, Nancy Boylan, Shirley Riegel and Sharon Rettig.

The lovely party was perfectly carried out in every detail and was a delightful forerunner of All Hallow's Eve.

Mrs. Christopher Is Hostess to Wednesday Bridge

Mrs. Thomas S. Christopher, whose entertaining is always exceptionally delightful, added another gay party to her quota when she was a charming hostess to her bridge club Wednesday evening. Mrs. R. N. Ricketts, of Delaware, and Mrs. Henry Brownell, Jr., were included with the members, with every one delighted to be with Mrs. Ricketts, a former member.

Fall flowers were prettily decorative throughout the home, where bridge was gaily contested. High score trophies were presented to Mrs. Robert Dunton and Mrs. John Forsythe.

The dining table was a picture of distinct beauty in its color combinations for the delicious course served at the close of the evening. An exquisite lace cloth covered the table, and was centered with a blue basket profusely filled with deep rust and yellow mums. Tall blue tapers burned on either side, making it most attractive. The hour was prolonged in its numerous pleasures.

WASHINGTON C. H. SCHOOLS AT TOP IN ASSOCIATION

National Education Society Issues Statement About Work Performed

As educators unite in the mobilization of schools for all-out war effort, the National Education Association reports 18,777 Ohio teachers last year gave aid to this program through membership in their national professional organization.

Washington C. H. rated at the top in membership, maintaining 100 percent enrollment in the National Education Association for the 4th consecutive year.

The establishment of the High School Victory Corps as schools get underway for the current year makes a fundamental adaptation of the educational curriculum to wartime needs. Through its annual conventions and conferences, its publications, and its radio programs, the National Education Association is speeding this effort.

Summarizing the contributions made by schools and teachers last year, the Association announces that during the 1941-42 school term teachers gave 20 million school hours and 18 million non-school hours to rationing and similar activities. This contribution was in addition to time spent in such activities as Red Cross work including participation in first aid, canteen, and surgical dressing services; and civilian defense duties such as those of air raid warden, auxiliary police and airplane spotter.

Under the supervision of the teachers, the "third army" of 30 million school children last year did more than $80,000,000 worth of war bonds and stamps, sponsored and cultivated 169,000 acres of victory gardens, and produced 300,000 model airplanes for the armed forces.

They were also participants in the salvage campaigns during which they collected more than 150,000 tons of waste paper alone. American Junior Red Cross members in the schools now total more than 14 million.

PRESIDENT'S 4 SONS IN ACTIVE SERVICE

Two in Navy, One in Army And Other in Marines

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—(P)—Navy Day Tuesday saw two of President and Mrs. Roosevelt's four sons in naval service, the other two with the Army and Marines abroad and Mrs. Roosevelt herself in England.

Their two youngest sons, Lieut. Franklin, Jr., 28, and Lieut. (J. G.) John, 26, are assigned to destroyers. Franklin is the gunnery officer of a destroyer on duty in the North Atlantic and John the supply officer for four destroyers in the Pacific.

The oldest son, Major James Roosevelt of the Marines, who is 34, has seen fighting in the Pacific but has just been ordered hospitalized because of a recurrence of an old stomach ailment.

Lieut. Colonel Elliott Roosevelt, 32, has an aviation command with the army in England.

The lowest temperature ever recorded by any weather station in the world—94 degrees below zero—was registered at Verkhoyansk in Siberia.

NEWS FOR BETTER HEALTH

For Those Suffering From These Ailments:

STOMACH KIDNEYS RHEUMATISM

BIO-MINERAL FOR BETTER HEALTH

Teeth decaying, eyesight failing, nervousness, constipation, general run-down condition and the above mentioned diseases are often caused by lack of minerals in the body. If you are a sufferer and wish to get well, doctors and common sense will advise you TO GO TO MINERAL SPRINGS to get cure or relief.

Medical science for centuries has believed in the curative property of minerals. Now, as never before, Doctors, Hospitals, Sanatoriums, Naturalists and Specialists are stressing the importance of Minerals. The cry is: MINERALS!!! MINERALS!!!

THE ROAD TO DRUGLESS HEALTH

Ordinary cathartics do not cure constipation. Doctors can tell you that! They force out the foods and digestive juices from your stomach, and never correct the cause of your trouble. BIO-MINERAL works the NATURAL way. It reaches down to the root—to the walls of your intestines, neutralizing, throwing away waste material, gas, toxins and bloating. Not like physics, oils and cathartics do... but in a Natural, harmless and painless way—doing a real "house-cleaning."

BIO-MINERAL will not interfere with the natural foods in your stomach, like a physic. But after 2 or 3 days, you may see the poisonous matter coming out—relieving you! These poisons, collecting there probably for years, like rust in an iron pipe, were weakening your kidneys and ruining your digestive system.

WITH YOUR EYES!—SEE AND BELIEVE

BIO-MINERAL comes from the depths of the earth. Nature's laboratory. Is NOT mineral oil, physic, or drug. Contains NO alcohol, NO drugs, NO dope, NO oil. NOT A SINGLE habit forming ingredient. ONLY Natural, Life-Giving Minerals—the same minerals of the world's best springs—the oldest and most reliable remedy for Rheumatism, Arthritis, Neuritis, Stomach and Kidney disorders.

Thousands rush to MINERAL SPRINGS, because the miraculous aid of minerals relieves their agony and pain, and often restores their health. Presidents, Kings and Millionaires go to Mineral Springs.

In BIO-MINERAL you get the very same minerals of the famous Springs in highly concentrated liquid form. As a logical thing, there should be a bottle of BIO-MINERAL in every home.

With your own eyes!—see and believe the relief you get from your ailments with this marvelous Nature's remedy. You may UPROOT and drive them OUT of your system. Regardless of how long you have been suffering. It takes ONLY 3 days to prove it. To SEE—NOT to guess the results!

GUARANTEE

WE WILL REFUND YOUR MONEY IN FULL if not satisfied after 5 days' trial.

MADISON MILLS SCHOOLS SHARE IN WAR EFFORT

Week's War Stamps Sales Amount to $240 and Scrap Piled High

The pupils and teachers of the Madison Mills schools have set a mark for the rest of the county to shoot at.

Setting out last week to break their own record for the sale of War Stamps, they turned in a total of $240.35, a report from the office of Kenneth Craig, the superintendent, disclosed when the final figures were in.

The elementary grades contributed their fair portion of the effort, the report showed, with a total sale of $69.35. The high school's contribution amounted to $92. The teacher loan to Uncle Sam on the regular salary deduction plan amounted to $24 for the week and in addition the teachers and janitor bought another $79 worth of bonds and stamps.

The week's effort amounted to an average of more than $1 per pupil and teacher for the week.

In a parallel patriotic endeavor two huge piles of scrap metal rose to unexpected heights on the school yard during the week's drive.

Supt. Craig explained that some scrap metal was "spotted" by nearly every pupil in the schools, who reported their finds to the teachers. Then, they were given permission to go and gather it up if they could provide the proper transportation.

The drive was sparked by a contest arranged between the "Navy" and the "Marines."

The effort was labeled a success because, as Supt. Craig explained, "this vast amount of valuable scrap metal no doubt would have lain idle on many farms had not the pupils gone out after it." It has not yet been weighed, but both the pupils and the teachers are proud of what they have done and make no secret of it.

LAST JAPS MOVED FROM PACIFIC AREA

110,599 of Nip Ancestry Are Transferred by Army

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 29.—(AP)—In a movement without parallel in the nation's history, 110,599 persons of Japanese ancestry have been transferred by the army from the strategic military areas of the west coast.

The army today summed up its operations, covering a period of eight months, in which the exodus was accomplished. The last of the Japanese were moved inland this week from Santa Anita and Fresno assembly centers.

The order of exclusion from strategic military areas affected all Japanese, those born in this country as well as natives of Japan.

SUIT FOR CHILDREN IS LOST BY ACTRESS

Remarriage Is Evidence of Lack of Mother Love

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Oct. 29.—(AP)—Screen actress Barbara Bennett's action in remarriage a few days after tenor Morton Downey divorced her was an indication that she did not possess "mother love" and therefore she cannot have custody of their five children, ruled Superior Court Judge Edward J. Quinlan.

Miss Bennett, he said in a decision handed down yesterday, "permitted volatile infatuation to be substituted for mother love."

The actress had appealed two months ago for modification of the ruling made when Downey was awarded an uncontested divorce June 14, 1941, on grounds of intolerable cruelty.

OPPORTUNITIES FOR EXPANSION OF ROAD LOST

Local Railroad Had Plans For Rebuilding Much Of the Line

The Pennsylvania Railroad, which was all set to practically rebuild the division through this city and Circleville—if the big camp had been established in Ross and Pickaway counties, halted extensive improvements planned when the camp "blew up" last spring.

However, some new bridges were built, many new ties placed in the road and other improvements made, but the main rebuilding program was not carried out.

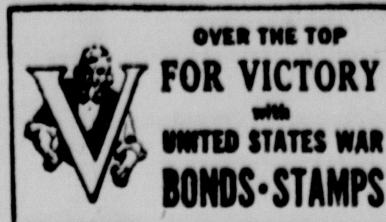

Surveys had been made and officials were merely waiting for the word that the big camp was to be constructed before they launched the extensive rebuilding program.

Of course the camp project fell through and the local branch lost what would have been an opportunity to become one of the busiest roads in this part of the country.

However, the war has brought increased business to the Pennsylvania line through here, even though the road missed the camp proposed in Ross and Pickaway counties and there is still likelihood of further improvements on the branch to meet traffic demands.

DENTAL CLINIC EXAMINES 1,019 COUNTY PUPILS

Fewer Defects Found Here Than in Most Ohio Counties. State Dentist Says

Of the 1,019 in the Fayette County schools examined by dentists from the State Department of Health during the past two weeks in the big dental office on wheels, 86 percent of them had some dental defect, the records of the examinations on file in the County Health Department show.

But, Dr. James F. Wilson, the county health commissioner, said, it is about 10 percent better than is found in most Ohio counties. The examinations were made by Dr. I. E. Henry of the State Department in the first four grades of the county elementary schools and the freshman and senior classes of the high schools.

Dr. Wilson expressed the belief that "had Dr. Henry examined the pupils of the fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grades, he would have found more corrections and fewer defects than in the younger pupils" and he pointed out that on the basis of this presumption "the percentage would have been still less because the older pupils have been the one receiving the most dental corrections during the past four years. However, Dr. Wilson added, the examinations will give the county nurses "plenty to do during the next few months getting these pupils to dentists for the recommended corrections."

Dr. Wilson reiterated that it is up to the parents to see that their children get dental attention and that the corrections are to be made by the family dentist of their own selection.

The examinations are made without charge by the state as a public health service, Dr. Wilson declared.

Dr. Wilson paid his compliments to the dentists of Washington C. H., who made the examinations in the city schools at the same time the traveling dental office was making the rounds of the county schools.

With the dental examination program for this season completed as one of the last big undertakings of the County Health Department under the guidance of Dr. Wilson, the retiring health commissioner expressed the hope that the Board of Health would be able to get a new commissioner to fill his place who would "follow through" with the program "so this correction of dental defects in school children will be taken care of at once."

Dr. Wilson resigned unexpectedly earlier this month because of what he termed "political interference" with his conduct of the department. He said he was considering moving to one of several other cities where he had offers, presumably in public health work.

Honduras, Central America, is an agricultural and cattle raising country. The country is mountainous and very fertile, but mostly uncultivated.

CHARGES OR PROOF

Gov. BRICKER'S RECORD Gives you the PROOF

Ohio has more factories in war work than any other state. State business has been decently and economically handled. Expenses have been reduced, no matter how political tricksters attempt to juggle the figures. State money has been used to serve the public, not to pay political debts. State taxes have been kept low and no new or increased taxes are needed. A $40,000,000 inherited deficit has been paid off and a $20,000,000 surplus laid by for the taxpayers. Local governments have received a larger share of state money than in any other state. Honesty, efficiency and economy in state government have set a new mark in Ohio history.

There's the record Governor Bricker has made. Show your approval and insure continuation of this sort of government. Go to the polls on Nov. 3 and

A PUBLIC STATEMENT!

To The Voters of Fayette County:

I am a candidate for the office of County Auditor of Fayette County and I earnestly solicit your support at the election to be held November 3rd, 1942.

Due to the recent illness and death of my wife I have been unable to see as many of the voters or to make as thorough a canvass as originally intended, but I assure you I want to be elected and shall appreciate all the help you can give me.

I am a native of Fayette County, having lived here all of my life. For several years I operated a general store at Milledgeville, and for the past 18 years have been engaged in farming. After completing my education in the local schools I attended Miami-Jacobs Business College, taking a complete course in bookkeeping and accounting. I feel that my past experience and training qualifies me for the position I seek.

The term of County Auditor is 4 years,—two terms are 8 years. My opponent has already served two terms or 8 years, and is now asking to be continued in office for a third term, or 12 years in one office.

DO YOU THINK THIS IS FAIR OR PROPER?

If I am elected I promise to serve all the people fairly and impartially. I also promise to manage and operate the office with a minimum amount of clerical help and expense to the taxpayers of the county.

Respectfully submitted,

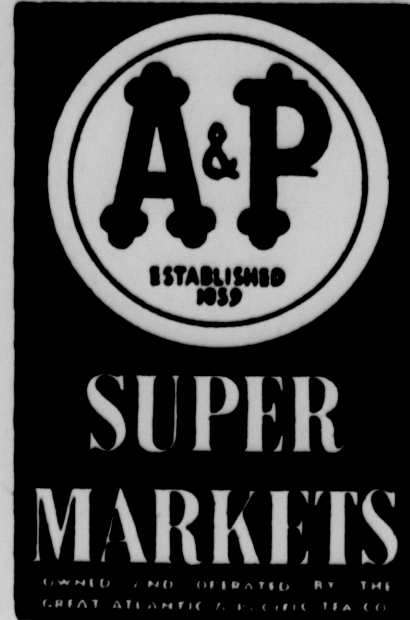

ULRIC T. ACTON

Republican Candidate for COUNTY AUDITOR.

WHS HI-Y CLUB VOLUNTEERS FOR HOME DEFENSE

Plans for Remembering Boys In Service Developed at Group's Last Meeting

The members of WHS Hi-Y Club have volunteered their services to civilian defense and will take their places within the next few weeks.

The high school Seniors and Juniors will be assistant air raid and fire wardens.

This was announced at the regular meeting of the club by Jim Gage. Bill Rudduck and Wendell Salisbury were appointed to see Col. Rell Allen about the part the Hi-Y will play.

Dave Ellies, taking the place of the president, Don Harper, during the football season, was in charge and it was one of the most important meetings of the year.

The first business to come before the club was the names of former WHS students in the armed services. Names were distributed among the members and their addresses will be turned in from which a list will be made. Bob Burnett was placed in charge of these names. After the list is made, the members will send letters and packages to the soldiers, sailors and marines.

It was also decided to sell pencils again this year as has been done in the past. The pencils will have the high school basketball schedule stamped on them and will sell for a nickel. All of the members will be selling these within the next few weeks. Joe Tillett and Bob Allen were appointed to pick out the pencils wanted. A drive on the "Washington sticker" sale will be continued indefinitely until they are all sold.

The entire club program for this school year, including every activity was read by Bob Shoemaker, chairman of the program committee. It was worked out last week and gives dates of Hi-Y meetings, supper meetings, dances, parties, etc. Other members of the committee are Dave Ellis, Eugene Heath and Dave Ellies.

The Hi-Y will sponsor a drive next week for recent magazines and books and also games to send to the boys in the armed services. Letters to members from some of the boys have expressed the desire for these. Loren Briggs was put in charge of the drive committee and will be assisted by Sammie Wilson, Gordon Lanum, Karl Harper and Gordon Davis.

The Hi-Y members will attend the Methodist Church next Sunday and will alternate churches during the year, it was announced by Jim Hidy, the club chaplain.

The box which was placed in the WHS hall last week for money for gifts for soldiers has netted $2 and the drive will be pushed during the rest of this week.

One of the important business matters which came before the club was the establishment of a point system for all members except the officers. Points will be given for attendance, sales and participation in all club activities. A committee composed of Jim Gage, Bob Shoemaker, Stan Mark, Bill Williams and Johnny Anderson will decide the number of points given for each activity. Points also will be taken from each member's total for failure to meet obligations. At the end of

of the year the member with the highest number of points will be given a jeweled Hi-Y pin.

Stan Mark, the club treasurer reported $17.50 in the treasury.

The next meeting will be a pot luck supper in the Little Theater next Tuesday night.

Other members present besides those already mentioned were Paul Shoults, Paul Hirt, Rollo Marshant, Lincoln Schwart, Carl Pummell, Loyd Fennig, Bill Lucas, Dale Tool, Randall Worthington, Marlyn Engle, John Adams, Dick Kelly and Russell Davis. Six members were absent. J. J. Horst, a member of the WHS faculty, is the club advisor.

Young of Bartlett, Ohio, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Caplinger and children of Sinking Spring, Mr. and Mrs. Owen Ellison and children, of Bowersville, Miss Virginia Ellison and Mrs. Bessie Pollock of Greenfield.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rowe were in Cincinnati Sunday to visit with their son Elmo, who is ill.

OHIO POPULATION GROWS THANKS TO DR. STORK

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29—(P)—The excess of births over deaths increased Ohio's population during the past two years despite the loss of manpower to the armed services.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day. When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

with an EMPTY gun?

Next month, next year, will a soldier somewhere die because you didn't "understand"?—or because you whined, "I can't afford it?" Will some boy die for the want of a dozen bullets your quarter War Stamp will buy now? Will you want to say then, "Sorry, son, I didn't think . . .?"

Only the War Bonds that buy bullets and ships and tanks and planes can keep our boys from being slaughtered. If one boy dies needlessly, part of YOU dies with him—the part that is your liberty, your self-respect, the part that is American. And the dictators come closer to our homes with every single boy who dies cursing an empty gun!

America's fighting men don't want life without liberty. Is that same liberty worth a dime out of every dollar to you? Pledge at least 10% of your earnings for the next year and pledge it NOW . . . If we lose this war, you'll have neither dollars nor liberty!

Blue Lions at Grandview With Fans' Best Wishes

-Spying- On Sports

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—(AP)—Having tried to apply common sense to football predictions for several weeks, and having fallen somewhat short of perfection, this dept. is inaugurating a new system this week:

Duquesne vs. St. Vincent (Friday)—One of Duquesne's half-backs is Goode. So is Duquesne—too good for St. Vincent.

Colgate vs. Holy Cross—we're always mistaking Colgate's Al Hanover for a trotting horse because of his name, but we understand he's a runner. Maybe Al will pace the Red Raiders to victory.

Oklahoma vs. Iowa State—Word from the southeast is that the Sooners' prospects depend on whether Hamm is hot. Veteran sandwich eaters tell us cold Hamm is just as good. Anyway, we'll string along with Oklahoma whether Hamm is hot or roasted.

Pennsylvania vs. Army—The Penn is mightier than the Sword.

Today's Guest Star

William McG. Keefe, New Orleans Times-Picayune—"Chancellor O. C. Carmichael of Vanderbilt said that the students attending the university without a serious purpose should enlist in the armed forces before sundown. He probably was referring to those students who make up the football squad, because we noticed his suggestion came right on the heels of that 33 to 0 pasting Mississippi State dish out."

Service Dept.

Being in the Army hasn't meant much of a change for Pvt. Al Buck, former New York Post sportswriter. At Fort Dix, N. J. He is writing sports for the camp newspaper—the Post-Buzz. Borries, Navy's all-America back of 1934, already has six Jap planes to his credit. He was on both the Yorktown and the Lexington but managed to find safe landing places when his ships went down.

Hunters Here Are Asked To Watch Fires

Fayette County sportsmen are being asked to follow their previous good record in helping prevent fires in fields or forests during the hunting season.

It is pointed out that as a class sportsmen need less warning regarding the starting of fires, than any other group.

But there are exceptions. And to these latter the warning must not be impeded by any wastage that can be avoided and that fire, a national menace even in normal times, is a far greater menace now.

The United States Department of Agriculture has just released some figures applicable to Ohio's forests. These show that in 1941, woods fires burned 13,950 acres in Ohio; that 11,199 fire within the state last year were caused by smokers; that over 90 percent of all fires last year were man-caused and preventable.

The demand for wood in these war times is very high. Five full-grown trees are needed to back up each soldier. These needs, it is explained, include wood for living quarters and other military buildings; crates for shipping food, guns, ammunition and other supplies; plywood for airplane construction; wood cellulose for high explosives; lumber for pontoon bridges and many other items.

Here's a fire safety code for hunters:

Smoke only while stopping in safe places, completely cleared of dry or inflammable materials.

Break your match in two before you throw it away. This makes sure that the match is out.

3. Be sure your cigaret stub is out before throwing it away. The same goes for pipe tobacco. Never throw them into grass, brush or leaves.

In 1900, less than 40 per cent of the population of the United States lived in cities and towns; in 1940, more than 56 per cent were city dwellers.

MIGHTY MITES AGAIN BATTLING HEAVIER TEAM

Loyal Rooters Have To Stay
At Home—First Daytime
Game of Season

While the mighty mites of WHS were trying to pull another of their Jack, the Giant killer acts on the outskirts of the state capital Thursday afternoon, most of their loyal rooters—the scores of fans, young and old who have followed them at 35-miles an hour into neighboring football hotbeds—since early fall—were having a hard time concentrating on the work at hand. This was the first, and only, daytime game of the season and the fans were stymied. The Blue Lions Wednesday after school, had their last practice before they took to the road to invade Grandview to play the Bobcats Thursday afternoon. The practice period wasn't very rugged due to the fact, that every night before a game the boys don't have much personal contact. It consisted of blocking, passing, punting, practice kickoffs, and a short signal drill.

The ready little men from WHS were in high spirits as they left for the encounter with the Bobcats. Some of the players on the squad watched the Grandview-North game in which the Lions got a few pointers from the sidelines on how to stop the Bobcats and learn a few of their tricks. North won the game from the Bobcats by a score of 19 to 6. The Grandview boys aren't little, and can take care of themselves when it comes to playing football. They have a tricky backfield, and a tough line. But so far this year, the Lions have been able to take care of themselves against bigger boys.

Again, as in the last few weeks, Hoy Simons, manager of the Fayette Theater, had the boys as his guests Wednesday evening at the show. The latest visit of the vice president of the St. Louis Cardinals, Branch Rickey, today was named president and general manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Rickey Back To Discuss Dodger Post

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—(AP)—Branch Rickey was back in town today for the second time within a week and may sign as the new president of the Brooklyn Dodgers before he darts away again.

The latest visit of the vice president of the St. Louis Cardinals, Branch Rickey, today was named president and general manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers.

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—(AP)—Branch Rickey today was named president and general manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers.

inals was surrounded in as much secrecy as last week.

However, there was reason to believe that he had come to conclude negotiations which have been going on ever since the World Series, when the board of directors of the Dodgers set out to find a successor to Larry MacPhail, who resigned to accept a lieutenant-colonelcy in the army. When he was last here Rickey, although refusing to acknowledge that his presence had any connection with the Brooklyn vacancy, did say he hoped to "know something definite within the next week."

The fact that he returned seven days later, on the dot, was therefore accepted to mean that he knew something definite and there seemed to be no occasion for his making a trip here if the "definite" were negative.

Football Offense in High Gear With Ohio Bucks Up Near Top

By ARNOLD DERLITZKI

CHICAGO, Oct. 29.—(AP)—College football is streaking to new offensive heights this year on the backs of Missouri and Georgia.

Missouri, paced by Bob Steuber, the nation's leading scorer, has averaged 434 yards a game for six contests. Georgia, led by Frankie Sinkwich of Youngstown, O., has rolled along at 431 clip in the same number of encounters.

The American football statistical bureau, in releasing today's figures, said that it believed it had some imposing figures three years ago when Cornell, in six games averaged 409 yards before bumping into Dartmouth and Pennsylvania.

But today Missouri and Georgia not only are far ahead of that pace, but are being pushed by two other elevens. In five games, Tulsa had a 419 total of offensive average and Ohio State, 414.

Missouri and Ohio State, incidentally, are the two top running teams of the nation, Missouri having gained 2,023 of its 2,605 total yardage by rushing and Ohio State 1,646 of its 2,070.

Georgia, 13th in rushing, is making up its difference in passing where it continues to run third behind Columbia and Tulsa. Columbia has averaged 212 yards a game, Tulsa 209, and Georgia 184, with Maryland right behind at 182.

All around honors, however, go to little Tulsa, undefeated in five games. In addition to being third in total offense and second in passing, the Golden Hurricanes are first in total defense (allowing opponents an average of 84 yards a game), first in pass defense (permitting 25 yards a game), third in punting and 11th in rushing.

Figures on the first seven total offense leaders: Missouri, 6 games, 2023 yards by rushing, 582 by passing, 2605 total; Georgia 6-1480-1107-2587; Tulsa 5-1049-1084-2079; Ohio State 5-1646-424-2070; Texas 6-1739-590-2329; Vanderbilt 5-1347-559-1906; Boston College 4-1021-379-1400.

BASEBALL MAY BE REORGANIZED INTO EAST AND WEST CIRCUITS

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—(AP)—

The Herald Tribune says that a plan to split the American and National Baseball Leagues into Eastern and Western divisions to cope with the difficulties of wartime transportation will be considered at the major league meetings in Chicago in December.

The plan, according to an unnamed major league executive, would group the Boston Red Sox and Braves, the New York Yankees and Giants, the Brooklyn Dodgers, the Philadelphia Athletics and Phils and the Washington Senators in the Eastern Division and the Pittsburgh Pirates, Cincinnati Reds, Detroit Tigers, Cleveland Indians, Chicago Cubs and White Sox and the St. Louis Cardinals and Browns in the Western Division.

President Ford Frick of the National League, said he knew nothing of a reported plan.

"It's the first I've heard of it," Frick said. "We are planning to play a regular, normal schedule of games next summer. Of course, if some emergency should arise to make that impossible, then we would seek some plan to meet it. That might be one of the plans we would consider."

In Chicago, President William Harridge of the American League snapped, "There's nothing to it."

RING TITLES TO BE FROZEN FOR FIGHTERS IN SERVICE; CONN IS NO. 1 CONTENDER

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—(AP)

—Privately Billy Conn and Bob Pastor are the "logical contenders" for Sgt. Joe Louis' heavyweight championship crown. The National Boxing Association reported today in announcing that top-ranking fighters now in the armed services shortly would be placed in a special "honorary class."

Abe J. Greene, NBA president, said that in December the association would announce plans for listing "duration champions and contenders." These ratings, Greene declared, will be based on a policy of "freezing" for the duration the titles of men in the service. He added that such a system would prevent "injustice" to champions now in uniform and would prevent appropriation of boxing crowns by self-declared champions or by dictum of any individual athletic commission.

In again listing Conn as the No. 2 heavyweight, the NBA made no reference to the scheduled Louis-Conn scrap of three weeks ago, which Secretary of War Stimson cancelled.

The NBA ranked Pastor as the leading "out-of-the-service" heavyweight. Ignoring both his recent defeat at the hands of Jimmy Bivins of Cleveland and Bob's announcement three days ago that he was retiring from the ring and planned to enter some branch of the armed forces.

Farmerettes Lose All to Retreaders

The Hawkinson Retreaders made it three in a row over the Farmerettes of the Exchange in the Ladies League bowling Wednesday night when they met with only a 7-pin handicap in favor of the farmers, on the South Main Street alleys and proceeded to tighten up the already scrambled chase.

Meanwhile the Gradale Beta girls were taking two out of three from the Light's Dairy-maids with the help of a 155-117 handicap. The Gradalers took the first two tilts but weakened in the finale. They also held the advantage in the 2223 to 2157 total score.

Drop Kick Controversy, Is Settled—and Michigan Is Left Without Victory

CHICAGO, Oct. 29.—(AP)—Now that everyone, including Referee James Masker and Commissioner John L. Griffith, has had a say in the controversial drop kick episode that ultimately brought Minnesota a 16-14 win over Michigan Saturday, the case was closed today—and Michigan still was without a victory over the Gophers in 10 years.

Masker last night admitted a lapse in not calling a five yard penalty on Minnesota for too many times out in the last nine seconds of the first half, when the disputed play occurred, but he did not concede that the failure altered the game's outcome.

Griffith, Western Conference commissioner, in a statement said that "college games are never played over and scores are not reversed, no matter what may have happened, once the game is ended."

In his statement, however, he concluded after hearing reports and studying movies of the game that omission of the penalty (for taking time out to substitute after Minnesota already had exhausted its legal limit of three) was the only deflection in the sequence of happenings.

Michigan officials contended that had the penalty been assessed with the clock ticking off the final seconds, Bill Garnau would not have had time to kick the goal.

Barney McCosky Wounded While Hunting Birds

DETROIT, Oct. 29.—(AP)—Ball player Barney McCosky, thankful that his injuries were no worse, had a date at Henry Ford Hospital today for removal of three shotgun pellets from his face and head.

The Detroit Tiger outfielder, who said he had feared his eyes were imperiled was in road of a companion's fire while the two were hunting pheasant near Bad Axe on Tuesday and was struck with part of the charge.

Two pellets which struck just beneath his left eye were taken out. Three others lodged in his forehead, an ear, and the side of his nose.

GRAIN MARKET NEWS SUMMARY

CHICAGO, Oct. 29.—(P)—With rye and corn futures prices at new lows for the year, the trend of all grain values was lower today as renewed selling appeared in the market as a result of the large domestic surpluses available and lagging commercial demand.

Most losses were only fractional, but rye sagged about a cent and corn was down almost that much at times. Grain men said hedging sales were apparent in the corn pit in connection with the new crop movement. Ceilings on flour limited demand for both wheat and rye, they said.

Wheat closed ¼-½c lower than yesterday, December 1.23¼-7c, May 1.26; corn ¼-½c down, December 79-79½c, May 84½-14c; rye ½-¾c down, December 61c; soybeans unchanged to ¼c off; oats unchanged to ¼c higher.

Few Married Men To Be Drafted Here This Year

ENOUGH 1-A MEN FOR DECEMBER IS INDICATION

Situation Different in State As a Whole—Deferments Upset Routine Plans

Chairman J. M. Willis of the Fayette County Selective Service Board said Thursday that regardless of reports that "approximately 50 percent of the state's December draft call will be made up of married men with a wife only," that in all probability this will not be the case in Fayette County.

He indicated that sufficient 1-A men, taken from other classes and reclassified, would be available without drawing heavily upon the married men unless there should be an unusual number of reversals through appeals.

He also indicated that unless the registration of 18 and 19 year old men takes place in time, some of the older men in the registration will probably be inducted in the December call.

Lieut. Col. Carl C. Wani, head of the manpower division of Selective Service in Ohio, in an advance notice to local draft boards said the call would be filled by registrants in the following order and those who have not been deferred for occupational reasons.

1. Single men, including 20-year-olds.

2. Single men with collateral dependents.

3. Men married after Dec. 8, 1941; men married when selection was imminent; and married men who do not maintain a bona fide family relationship with their families.

4. Married men with wife only (no children).

"The boards must first have substantially exhausted the first three groups before dipping into the fourth," the officer said. "About 130 of Ohio's 330 boards have reported they virtually exhausted the first three classes to meet the November call."

Wahl informed the boards that if pending legislation permitting the induction of 18 and 19 year old registrants is passed in time to permit classification, time for appeal and general processing, "these registrants will be inducted" before the married men in the fourth group.

Col. C. W. Gobie, Ohio Selective Service chief, said that from 30 to 60 days are required to process a registrant for final induction.

The inactive status period granted newly-inducted draftees before they begin military service was ordered cut from two weeks to one week by the war department today, effective Nov. 1.

"This step is a logical consequence of the recent deferment of agricultural workers, requested as a matter of national necessity by the war manpower commission," Secretary of War Stimson said in a statement.

"These deferments in November make it necessary for us to draw upon the men on inactive status, in order that we may receive the number of men that the army must have. Otherwise the war manpower commission's action would result in serious shortages next month."

"We were faced a choice between reducing the preliminary furlough period or deviating from the program of full speed ahead in the war effort. I believe that the men concerned will approve on the alternative we chose."

From Washington D. C. comes the following A. P. story on occupational deferment:

Selective Service headquarters acknowledged today that the new occupational deferment directive for necessary men on essential diary, livestock and poultry farms might in time reduce draft quotas in places where such men are concentrated.

"A spokesman who desired to remain anonymous said this would likely follow because national selective service, after receiving notice from the Army of the number of men to be furnished, apportions state quotas according to the number of 1-A men available in each state."

"State directors, he added, apportion quotas for local boards on the same basis, although some leeway is allowed as was shown when state pools were established so that no board would have to call heavily upon married men while other boards had a number of single men."

The spokesman said that any quota changes caused by the directive would not be noticeable.

immediately because quotas were sent out in advance of current calls and there has not been time for any great number of reclassifications under the new directive.

"The directive, he said, advises local boards to give occupational deferment to qualified men who already have been deferred for dependency reasons, shifting them from III-A to III-B, and to "give serious consideration" to granting occupational deferment to those without dependency deferment."

HALLOWE'EN PARTIES FOR CRAFT CLASSES

Boys and Girls Finishing Work On Bird Houses

Each of the after-school craft classes—white boys and girls and colored boys and girls—are enjoying a Halloween treat on the YM-YW at the completion of the classes this week.

The classes, under the supervision of Paul Hirt, are "progressing satisfactorily," according to "Y" leaders. Although a "good number" of children are enrolled, it was said that there is room for more since the space given over the craft shop was doubled when the "Y" building, 120 North North Street, was remodeled early in the fall.

The girls and boys are now busy putting the finishing touches on the bird feeders they have been making in the craft classes and they are anxious to get them completed and set up before the bitter weather of winter sets in so they will be able to feed and protect the birds when severe weather comes.

The Franklin stove has been used widely for 150 years.

COUNCIL HOLDS SHORT SESSION

No Business Transacted At Regular Meeting Wednesday Night

No business of importance was transacted by City Council at the regular session Wednesday night. Several additional bond house representatives were present in connection with financing purchase of the water works plant, but they were dismissed with the information that council was not ready to discuss the matter with them at the session.

The committee named to obtain information from the Ohio Water Service Company regarding purchase price of the plant here, did not report, as no contact with the head officials had yet been made. It is expected that some information will be had by the next regular session of council.

PRIVATE PLANES LAND NEAR CITY IN EMERGENCY

Not Permitted To Land at Columbus Airfield After Dark

Two privately owned planes, each carrying two men, landed in a sweet clover field on the Clarence Campbell farm two miles north of Washington C. H., on the Lewis road, about dusk, Wednesday evening, and spent the night there.

The forced landing was made when the pilots failed to reach Columbus by nightfall, and as no private planes are permitted over the city at night, it was necessary for the planes to land elsewhere, so the 50 acre field near this city was chosen.

Both planes are said to have narrowly escaped accident when they landed, due to the rank growth of sweet clover, and some difficulty was expected when they prepared to take off sometime Thursday, to continue their journey to Columbus.

First reports stated that the men were U. S. Army pilots, and the planes were Army planes, but such was not the case.

The occupants were brought into this city and obtained their evening meal.

Names of the airmen were not learned.

mation will be had by the next regular session of council.

PLENTY OF SMOKE BUT LITTLE FIRE

Anderson Smokehouse Is Scene of Blaze

Dense smoke pouring from the Anderson Meat Market's smoke house in the alley back of Trimmer's Ice Cream plant Wednesday night at 8:15 resulted in the fire department being summoned.

Firemen found that a side of meat had fallen into the embers and had ignited, with the result that a great deal of smoke was pouring from the place as the fire smoldered.

The booster line was used in extinguishing the blaze and some of the meat in the house was damaged, but the building itself escaped extensive damage.
